

Financial Cold War -Implications for Hong Kong's Financial Sector

29 Sep 2022 (Thu) | 7:00pm – 9:00pm

CAMLE AAMLE CRWP ARWE

Apply now

HKIB ECF SFC CPD CPD CPT

> 2 HOURS

Objective

Pursuant to Russian ongoing invasion of Ukraine, the US, EU and other countries have imposed unprecedented financial sanctions on Russia.

This follows steadily escalating geopolitical tensions in recent years, and could significantly affect Hong Kong's role in intermediating capital flows between China and international markets, as well as the operating environment for Financial Institutions operating in the territory.

This course aims to enhance participants' understanding of the background to current conflicts; provide insights into how they might affect financial markets; and help managers prepare for shifts in their internal and external operating environments.

Target Audience

01

02

Senior Management

All Senior Managers of regulated Financial Institutions, and particularly those with responsibility for business development and strategy.

Risk Officers

Risk Managers with responsibility for financial and operational risks.

Apply NOW

Scan the QR code at the upper right hand corner or click here to apply via e-form

 Programme Delivery
 Early Bird DEADLINE

 Virtual Classroom (Zoom)
 English
 English<

Enquiries

(852) 2153 7800
○ programme@hkib.org

Application DEADLINE

(1) 22 Sep 2022 (Thu)

STEAKER Key Description

ACsP

()

The speaker has over 20 years of experience in advising Financial Institutions and governments around the world on financial and strategic matters. For almost a decade, he held senior management roles with a major global financial market infrastructure operator, and he is the author of a best-selling book examining the financial dimensions of the Sino-US relationship.

Programme Outline

- Understanding the financial sources of international conflicts.
 -) The dimensions of geo-economic warfare and related risk.
 -) How geo-economic warfare is changing the operating environment in global markets.
 - Implications for Hong Kong as a Global Financial Centre.

to adapt?

How might Hong Kong's financial services sector need

Programme Code: HDCPDCOMP220901