2 HOURS
HKIB ECF SFC
CPD CPD CPT

Programme Outline

Analyse and strategise how personal data privacy should be protected and respected (especially in personal data security) in this digital transformation era, and particularly in light of the increasing pervasiveness of generative artificial intelligence (GenAI).

The session will cover:

- Key concepts, principles, and legal requirements for protection of personal data privacy
- The essence of guidelines published by the Office of the Privacy Commissioner for Personal Data, Hong Kong, in the context of generative AI
- Case studies

Speaker Introduction

The speaker was a veteran public policy professional before his current capacity as a Senior Advisor of a consulting firm. In his public service career spanning some three decades, he has engaged in various public policy areas covering policy-making, implementation and regulatory roles. His portfolio covered mostly trade, industry, innovation and technology, including in two non-government organisations for a decade in which he was constantly exposed to innovation and technology-related issues, the last three years of which he immersed in a regulatory role at a senior level in the protection of personal data privacy.
