

The Future of Hong Kong Data Privacy: Anticipated PDPO Amendments and Business Implications

Programme Code: THRC00P26124
16 December 2026 (Wednesday)
12:00nn – 2:00pm

Programme Outline

Analyse what amendments to the Personal Data (Privacy) Ordinance (the Ordinance) may come forth and why, how they may impact business operations and how best businesses may prepare for the future.

The session will cover:

- Key concepts, principles and legal requirements for protection of personal data privacy
- Essence of possible future enhancements and their origins
- Lessons learnt from case studies to prepare for the future

(The programme features real-life examples, providing participants with practical industry insights.)

Speaker Introduction

The speaker was a veteran public policy professional before his current capacity as a Senior Advisor of a consulting firm. In his public service career spanning some three decades, the speaker has engaged in various public policy areas covering policy-making, implementation and regulatory roles. His portfolios covered mostly trade, industry, innovation and technology, including in two non-government organisations for a decade in which he was constantly exposed to innovation and technology-related issues, with three years of which he immersed in a regulatory role at a senior level in the protection of personal data privacy.
