Module 3 Soft Skills Transformation For Successful Banking Professionals

25 Oct 2022 (Tue) | 3:00pm – 6:00pm

Apply now

Objective

With rapid technology transformation and evolving business environments, specific soft skills are highly important for Banking Professionals in order to stay agile and navigate changes in dynamic Hong Kong's financial market. Whilst Banking Professionals are valuable assets to the banks, human capital with soft skills is not easily replaceable by machines. Effective talent management with soft skills training will enable banks in Hong Kong to maintain competitiveness.

This programme aims to develop learners with specific soft skills and knowledge which are essentials in the banking industry. Specific soft skills will be introduced are transferable skills and widely applicable across different business functions within the bank, paving a successful career path in banking industry and adding value to Hong Kong's financial market as future leaders.
